

Flag Day, Friday June 14th

DEATHS

WILLIAM G. DAY, 87 years and 25 days old, died Friday, May 21, 1912, about 2 o'clock a. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Geo. T. Lyon, near Miami, Mo.

Mr. Day was born in Forker county, Virginia, April 29, 1825. At the age of nine years he came with his parents to Missouri, where he continued to live through all the years of his long and eventful life. His home was on a farm near Lagrange, in northeast Missouri, until about a year ago, when his wife died. Since that time he has been living with his children.

He leaves to mourn him seven children, three sons and four daughters, viz., Edgar of Shelby county; Dr. John, of Poughkeepsie, Okla.; Ben of Lewis county, Mrs. Lizzie Perkins of Atlanta, Neb., Mrs. Ellen Moore, of Lewis county, Mrs. Ida Patton of Beloit, Wis., Mrs. Geo. T. Lyon, of Miami.

Mr. Day was a worthy Christian man and had been a member of the Baptist church for more than fifty years. He was prominent in the community in which he spent his life and there he wrought to the best of his ability for the good of his fellowmen and to rear his family to worthy manhood and womanhood. He has gone to his reward rich in years and richer still in the love and veneration of his children to whom his memory will be a continuing benediction through life.

The funeral services were held at Dover church near Lagrange where the body was taken for burial.—Miami News.

MRS. ALICE ENGLAND, wife of Harry England, died Saturday, June 8, at eleven o'clock, p. m.; at her home in Malta Bend. Our hearts were all made sad when we knew that Mrs. England had left us to join the realms above for all who knew her loved her and her presence will be missed among us.

The deceased leaves besides her husband and daughter, her mother several brothers and sisters and a host of friends to mourn her loss. The remains were taken to Morgan county, Mo., Monday evening for burial. The bereaved have our heartfelt sympathy.

MRS. S. A. GASH died at her home near Nelson Saturday morning, June 8th, of asthma, after a week's illness, aged about 45 years. She is survived by her husband, a son and three daughters—Mrs. Bud Griffith, Mrs. Clarence Wolford, and a single daughter at home and son, William. She was a good lady and had many friends to mourn her sad death. Her remains were laid to rest Sunday afternoon in Salt Fork cemetery after services conducted by Revs. Reed and White.

JOHN ENGLAND who came in from his Oklahoma home about a week ago with his wife to visit their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Smith, south of Nelson, dropped dead suddenly Sunday evening of heart failure. Besides his widow he is survived by the following children—William, Lee, John, Mrs. Chas. Carroll, of Blackwater, Mrs. Thos. Smith, at whose home he died.

Funeral services were held at Heath Creek Baptist church Monday evening.

CLEVELAND CORDER died at his home in Alma Monday, June 10th, a victim of that dreaded ailment, consumption, after a long illness. Mr. Corder had been ailing for many years. About four years ago he went to Texas in the hope of getting relief, but was disappointed. He was born near Alma 32 years ago and was a most excellent young man. He was a consistent member of the First Presbyterian church.

Funeral services were held at the home in Alma Tuesday morning and the remains were brought to Marshall on the 10:30 O. & A. train for burial in the Corder lot at Ridge Park cemetery.

CATHERINE E. COLEMAN, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pant L. Coleman of near Stanhope, died Wednesday evening of acute indigestion after an illness of four or five months. She was a bright and sweet child and her death is a severe blow to the family and friends. Funeral services were held at Union church yesterday at 3 p. m.

LARKIN REYNOLDS died at his home in Arrow Rock Monday night of Bright's disease, aged about 75 years. He is survived by his wife and two children—Mrs. M. S. McGuire of Arrow Rock and Deal Reynolds of California.

Nearly a Centenarian

Mr. Bigger Head, father of Mrs. Kate Hartsook of southeast of town, died at his home in Bardolph, Ill., Saturday evening, June 1st, 1912, at the age of 99 years, 7 months and 20 days. He was an extraordinary man in more ways than age—a life-long loyal Methodist, a staunch Republican, an enterprising citizen, a liberal helper of the poor, charitable in his views, thrifty and industrious. He was not only the oldest but also the leading citizen of his town. Mrs. Hartsook is his oldest daughter and she has been with her father for several months in Bardolph. He was not sick, but passed away peacefully.

Sudden Death.

Our people were surprised Friday to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. A. F. Rector, who was at the time visiting her son, George, at Fayette. By the bursting of a blood vessel in her brain Thursday evening she was partially paralyzed and died the next morning. She was well and favorably known here and her death is much deplored by her friends. Besides the husband she is survived by three children—George, Miss Decha and Bayless.

Mrs. Rector was born in Charlton county, February 1855 and was married to the surviving husband on Jan. 10, 1878. They moved here in 1888. She was an earnest, faithful worker in the Baptist church.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence on East Arrow Sunday afternoon by Rev. W. L. Boyer of St. Louis, assisted by Rev. Hodge and Far's. Dr. J. S. McKee was in charge of the music which was furnished by a double quartette, one from the Baptist and one from the Methodist church. The funeral was very largely attended. Burial in Ridge Park cemetery.

Round About.

Did you ever stop to think that there is no man in Saline county who knows half of its people or that any man could possibly keep track of the important doings of our people? Then don't complain if an item is overlooked. A paper usually make an honest effort to get the news, but it falls far short if it hasn't the co-operation of the public and its readers.

One of the progressive editors of the state who attended journalism week at Columbia wore wooden shoes. He was John A. Lant, editor of the Florissant News. Many Hollanders live there, and they all wear wooden shoes in summer and many of them the year round. He used to laugh at them but says they are lighter than leather, cooler, and more comfortable for walking.

C. A. Mauch received a letter from Chas. Niemeler last week, who had just landed at Hamburg. He enclosed a newspaper published on the steamer which took him over—the President Grant. It was printed in English, German and French and gave the latest news received daily by wireless.

The National Republican Committee is unseating Roosevelt delegates on many technical points. One of the points held as a last resort is that some of the delegates are bowlegged or knock-kneed, which would shock the august body of grand statesmen and they will therefore be excluded.

Accidents

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fletcher left Thursday morning for El Paso, Texas, in response to a telegram stating that their son-in-law, Wm. Rollo Bruce, was badly burned in the explosion of the gasoline tank in his auto. He was filling the tank when it caught fire and Mr. Bruce was burned. His father was with him but escaped. It is not known yet just how serious the burns are.

While out driving Friday morning Will and Nim Nooe had a rather painful and exciting experience. Their young horse was frightened by an auto at the northeast corner of the square and ran away. Both were thrown upon the asphalt street and badly stunned and bruised, but no bones were broken and they soon recovered.

N. Tatum, a merchant of Grand Pass, was badly injured last Friday by the explosion of a can of gunpowder in his store. Mr. Tatum enjoys his pipe and forgot to leave it behind when he went after powder for a customer. The powder went off as usual. We hope for his speedy recovery.

John O'Bannon was thrown from his horse Monday and badly hurt. He fell on his head and has been laid up all week but is improving.

The Marshall Odd Fellows will hold memorial services at Ridge Park cemetery next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. J. E. Cortner and Rev. J. S. Smith will be the speakers.

The subject for the sermon at the First Baptist church next Sunday morning will be "Immortality of the Soul." At night the congregation will meet as usual at 7 o'clock on the lawn of the First Presbyterian church for open air union services.

One of our readers who is an active, earnest Christian called in several weeks ago and requested us to write an article on the influence of smoking and chewing on Christians. We realize that most men smoke or chew, even the preachers, so it would be presumptuous to condemn it too severely. But one thing is certain, it takes no one nearer heaven. Neither does it help your neighbor get to heaven or make him better or his lot easier here, so smoking and chewing is not conducive to Christian grace and the man who wants to make his life count will do well to let it alone.

This Is Flag Day.

The Daughters of the American Revolution of this city will observe Flag Day today on the lawn of Judge W. B. Napton, where a program will be rendered this afternoon from three to five. This day should be more generally observed, at the least by the more liberal display of flags.

Big Time Planned.

At its meeting Tuesday evening the Commercial Club made arrangements for the big barbecue and Fourth of July celebration. The committee in charge reported about $850 already raised and the hope of making it $1000 to entertain our visitors. There'll surely be a big time in Marshall on the Fourth.

One of the features of the day will be a ball game between a Kansas City team and the Marshall team at the Fair Grounds at 3:30 p. m. The other exercises will be on the square.

Fair Officers Elected.

At a meeting of stockholders of the new fair association Wednesday afternoon the following officers were elected:

John W. Rose, president.
C. J. Irvine, vice-president.
E. H. Mitchell, secretary.
J. W. Sparks, assistant secretary.
R. E. Holloway, treasurer.

Another meeting will be held at the county court room Saturday at 2 p. m. to discuss holding a fair this summer.

Rasse-Menges.

Lorenz S. Rasse "stole a march" on his many Marshall friends by going to St. Joseph where he was quietly married Monday to Miss Eleanor Menges, the handsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Menges, formerly of this city. Dr. W. R. Dobyns pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiating. The wedding occurred at the Presbyterian manse and the attendants were S. H. Burgess, of Cameron and Miss Berta Rasse, sister of the groom. Following the wedding the happy young couple left for a wedding trip of several weeks to Colorado.

While the wedding was a surprise to many, some of their friends were aware for some time that they had a "strong liking" for each other and were plotting to join their fortunes. And there's every reason to believe that they will have a most happy partnership.

The groom is one of our most excellent young men in every sense of the word and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rasse. He is a man of good business judgment and will provide well for the lady of his choice.

The bride is a handsome and cultured young lady who won the hearts of others besides the groom during her short stay in our city. On their return they will reside at the Rasse home on Eastwood till the groom can get a home ready for his bride. We join in hearty congratulations.

Clause-Hill.

The jig is all up with the small boys—there's no more Santa Clause for them now. He was married Sunday at high noon to Miss Minnie Mabel Hill of West Thomas St., and will have all he can do at home without running around over the country looking after other people's boys and girls. Rev. H. J. Steinheimer was a party to this plot in that he tied the knot and of course it's tied for good. But in reporting it he didn't say anything about himself, simply said, "Gee, but they had a fine dinner and the bride looked so pretty." When asked what he thought would happen now that Santa Clause is married he said, "Oh, that'll be all right—there'll be other Santa Clauses." Mr. Clause is a foreman at the shoe factory and a fine young man while the bride is one of Marshall's handsome and popular young ladies.

Here's The Snake Story.

We missed our good annual snake story from Blue Lick but it has arrived, even though not quite in the Blue Lick vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Schanz took Miss Nettie Schanz to her home near Wana-maker in their auto Sunday and spent the following day also at Louis Schanz's. While there Mrs. Schanz picked up the following snake story; Mrs. Eveline Walk had been missing eggs so she determined to keep a sharp watch. One day recently she was examining the setting hens when she noticed one without a head it appeared to her, so she raised it by the tail. Imagine her scare when she noticed a big blacksnake hanging to the hen and having part of the head and body swallowed!

She killed the snake and found it measured nine feet! The snake no doubt expected to eat the hen whole and probably would have succeeded if there hadn't been a Walk-in.

Mrs. C. W. Chastain returned yesterday to Plattsburg after a visit to Dr. M. T. Chastain's family. The doctor informs us that Mrs. Cartwright is again able to be out after a long illness.

Wedding Anniversary.

In spite of the rain of Sunday morning, June 9th, many friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, five miles northeast of Marshall to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Brown's tenth wedding anniversary. They were served an elegant dinner and covers were laid for sixty-seven.

The dining room was decorated in pink and white crepe paper which hung in festoons from the wall and met in the centre of the ceiling from which was suspended a large white wedding bell. The table was directly under the bell and a nice center piece and vase of pink roses were table decorations. The dinner was served in two courses and many were the good things to eat. The bed room was decorated in white and purple while the west room was decorated in red and white to match the paper of the respective rooms.

Some good music was had in the evening by Ferdinand Brown, H. Ludwig and Joe Heilman, also some nice singing by several of the guests.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Brown and family, Mrs. Joe Sanger, mother of the hostess, Joe Brown, Sr., father of the host, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown uncle and aunt, Mrs. Mary Bren-garth, Jr. Brown, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rader and son, Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hayes and family George Motal and children, John Brown, Jr., John J. Brown, Miss Mary Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Habermann and sons, Herman and Ferdo, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Vogl and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ludwig and sons, Fred and Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gorrell and children, Leyerster and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Heilman, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Heilman, and L. M. Montague. The host and hostess received many gifts suggestive of the occasion. The guests departed at a very late hour after having spent a delightful time and wishing them many more anniversaries.
